De Family Academy op Texel heeft Dan bereid gevonden nog een level I training te komen geven in januari 2020 !

Clinical Training in the Psychological Treatment of Children with Trauma - Attachment Problems

Level 1 - Introducing a Framework for Therapy and Parenting Developmentally Traumatized Children

when: January 22-25, 2020
where: Texel, Grand Hotel Opduin with: Daniel Hughes Ph.D.

Family Academy Empowerment Trainingen organises this level one training in the Netherlands at a beautiful location near the North Sea. This training is an introduction for professionals and therapists working with children and their families, who have experienced past developmental trauma and have associated attachment difficulties. Dyadic Developmental Psychotherapy (DDP) is an intervention model developed by Dan Hughes, Clinical Psychologist. DDP is family-based and is focused on facilitating the child's readiness and ability to establish a secure attachment with his/her caregivers. This approach brings together recent research in the areas of neurobiology of trauma, early child development and attachment theory to form a unique therapeutic and parenting approach. It is also a model of family therapy that applies to all families. This initial four-day training provides theory and research behind DDP while also covering its core principles and interventions. Videos of DDP treatment sessions will be shown.

Training vindt plaats van woensdag t/m zaterdag in Grand Hotel Opduin****
Kosten € 1525 (training en volledige verzorging ; op basis van 1persoonkamer)
Early Birds : voor 01-07-2019: € 1450
